FORMAL SANCTION OF PRESIDENT WILSON PAN-AMERICAN PLAN IS GIVEN BY WILSON

PRESIDENT APPROVES RECOGNITION OF CARRANZA GOVERNMENT—SOUTH AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN COUNTRIES EXPECTED TO FOLLOW.

WANTS AMERICANS TO BE MORE NEUTRAL

CITIZENS OF UNITED STATES SHOULD TAKE THEIR STAND FOR AMERICA FIRST, LAST AND ALL THE TIME, SAYS CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

ARREDOONDO'S LETTER PUBLISHED

Questions Asked by Lansing Regarding Intentions of Carrancista Party Toward Clergy and Catholic Church. Agent Tells History of Chief's Part in the Present Revolution.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, Oct. 11.—President Wilson today gave formal sanction to the plan of the Pan-American conference to extend recognition to the Carranza government in Mexico.

Diplomatic representatives here of several South American governments received instructions to take the same action as the United States. Similar work is expected within a few days from the government of all other American republics.

The form and time of recognition will be fixed then.

The European governments, it is understood, will follow the lead of the United States and the other American republics. Great Britain and France, it is known, have intimated that they will be their policy and it is believed here Germany and Italy will likewise both having maintained an accredited agent to General Carranza for sometime.

Correspondence that passed between Elliso Arredondo, Carranza's representative here, and Secretary Lansing and members of the Pan-American conference is given to the protection of the clerical and Carranza's pledge to restore constitutional government before public tonight. It reveals that Secretary Lansing asked particularly of Mr. Arredondo concerning the attitude of the Carranza government toward the clergy. The Arredondo reply, dated October 8, follows:

Arredondo's Letter to Lansing.

"Complying with your excellency's request asking me what is the attitude of the constitutional government in regard to the Catholic church in Mexico, I have the honor to say that inasmuch as the re-establishment of peace within our country is the purpose of the government of Mr. Venustiano Carranza to the end that all the inhabitants of Mexico, without exception, whether nationals or foreigners may equally enjoy the benefits of true justice and hence, taken interest in co-operating to the support of the government, the laws of reform which guarantee individual freedom of worship according to everyone's conscience shall be strictly observed."

"Therefore the constitutional government will respect everybody's life, property and religious beliefs without other limitation than the preservation of the public order and the observance of the institutions in accordance with the laws in force and the constitution of the republic."

"Hoping that I may have honored Your Excellency's wishes, I avail myself of this opportunity to reiterate to you the assurance of my highest consideration, etc."

The letter, which Mr. Arredondo addressed to the Pan-American conference on October 7, and which was the formal basis of their decision, was as follows:

Letter to Conference.

"In consideration of the agreement between Your Excellency and the other American representation during the last conference held in New York on the 18th ultimo, I have the honor to transmit herewith for Your Excellencies' information, a brief review of the Mexican revolution, initiated by Mr. Venustiano Carranza in February, 1913, explaining its origin, development and progress made to this day, and a copy of declarations made by Mr. Carranza as the leader of the revolution and depositary of the executive power of Mexico which give the tendencies and program to be followed by the constitutional government, during its transitory period, indispensable for the

SUMMARY OF WAR

The battle is in full swing along the northern frontier of Serbia, where the Austro-German forces are pounding at the Serbian positions in an endeavor to cut their way through the little kingdom with the object of relieving their Turkish allies.

Although the main Serbian forces are declared to be waiting further south for the crucial test, the Teutons are north, gaining ground unopposed in the north.

The office at Nish says that the losses on both sides are enormous, particularly in officers, and that the Serbs are valiantly resisting the invasions of the invaders and at numerous points have been victorious over them.

Coming to the aid of their compatriots are the Serb troops from Austria and seven divisions which have been on duty along the Bulgarian front, while unofficial advices indicate the effect that thousands of stricken men and many women in the Serbian kingdom are preparing to contest the march of the Austro-Germans across their territory. In addition to the capture of the capital of Belgrade, the heights south of the city have been taken by the German army has completed its task of crossing the Danube and battles have developed to the west along the front of the river Save.

Berlin asserts that the Germans have captured thus far in the operations fourteen officers, 1,542 men and seventeen guns. Near Brusnica on the Save from the serbs the Germans are using asphyxiating gas in abundance.

Further progress for the allied forces against the Germans in the Aartois and Champagne regions is claimed by Paris, but elsewhere along the line from Belgium to the German frontier only artillery engagements have been fought. A gain in ground on the road between Angres and Angres, the capture of a blockhouse in the Givenchy wood in Aartois and the taking of a German fortification near Turenne in Champagne are claimed by Paris.

The Russians around Divinsk again returned to the attack after the German advances of last week, but their efforts, according to Berlin, resulted in a repulse. Successes for the German troops are claimed by Berlin in the driving back of the Russians near Bezinjima-Lisichka by General von Linzinger's Army and northwest of Tarnopol by General von Bothom's forces.

Some light on the recent heavy fighting in France is given in statements by Sir John French, British commander-in-chief and the French war office. General French declares that in the German attack against the British line on La Bassée canal the Germans suffered very heavy casualties, especially near the town where they were mown down by a combined rifle, machine gun and artillery fire, not a man getting within forty yards of the British trench.

The French war office in recapitulating the operations for the week ending October 8th, says the British army, where repulsed the German counter attacks to regain the ground and that the French were able to consolidate the positions they had won. German troops brought from everywhere, even from Russia and men captured in the Aartois and Champagne regions belonged to ninety-two different regiments.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 11.—Application for appointment of a receiver of the Alabama, Tennessee & Northern railway was made in chancery court here today by D. H. Tolman of New York, a bondholder.

The petition alleges that the financial agents of the road have given notice that interest on bonds would not be paid. Officials of the railway deny the allegation. The petition also asserts that the report on operations issued June 30 showed a deficit of $88,000.

Waco, Texas, Tues., Oct. 12, 1915.—Foreign exchange rates went down again today in the face of the successful flotation of the $500,000,000 credit loan to Great Britain and France to their lowest point since September 15. So disquieting was the situation deemed that the four meeting attended by Wall street bankers and sir Edward Holden, member of the Anglo-French financial commission, was adjourned in the day at the National City bank for the reported purpose of devising some new method to bolster the value of the English pound sterling.

Since the arrival of the commission

view to arranging a private agreement between New York bankers on one hand and London bankers on the other, for credits which would tend to send the value of sterling up in this foreign exchange market. A supplemental credit of $250,000,000, it is said, was discussed.

Foreign exchange experts at the conference were reported unanimously agreed there would be only one remittance left when the proceeds of the $500,000,000 loan would have been spent—the virtual elimination of the pound sterling as the standard of world finance and the substitution of the dollar instead, least for the remainder of the war's duration.

A supplemental loan of $250,000,000 it was thought could easily be floated under these conditions if confined to banks and banking institutions and not offered to the general public.

Advocates of the plan were reported to have sought to convert sir Edward to their idea, though it was admitted by the probable would have difficulty in convincing the British bankers that the time had come to supplant the pound sterling with the dollar. Failure to do so it was believed might result in curtailment of British purchases here through further depreciation in British money rates.

F. S. MONETT TAKES CASE

NOTED ATTORNEY, A COMMITTEE MEMBER OF PEACE LEAGUE, TO TAKE CHARGE OF FIGHT—ALLEGES SOLVENCY OF COMPANY IS THREATENED BY LIABILITY OF DISRUPTION AMONG POLICY HOLDERS.

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Alleging that the Mutual Life insurance company of New York contemplates investing $10,000,000 of its trust funds in the Anglo-French loan of $500,000,000, Olga H. S. Walsh, Chicago, holder of a $2,000 insurance policy in the Mutual, filed suit for injunction in the federal court here today.

Frank P. Monett, former attorney general of Ohio, who prosecuted the anti-trust in that state against the Standard oil company, acted as attorney for the plaintiffs.

The complaint to the court sets forth that among the thousands of policy holders in the Mutual Life Insurance company and the conservators of nationalities and that the investment of the trust fund of the policy holders in the Anglo-French loan would tend to produce antagonisms among the policy holders which might lead to disrupting the company and thereby depreciate the value of her interest in the company.

In the language of the bill, the court is informed that "the solvency of

BRIEF REPLIES TO SOME QUESTIONS

About New Earth Product, Vitalitas.
Inquiries Come From Everywhere.

Floods of inquiries pour in from everywhere about Vitalitas. Here are a few answers to some of the questions:

What is Vitalitas? It is a natural product extracted from condensed liquid from an earth stratum of volcanic origin.

Where is the substance found? At only one known spot and that in Texas. The stratum is reached through an opening in a mound.

When was it discovered? Ages ago. It was used in a crude way by American aborigines who traveled long distances to get it.

How is it put up? In liquid form—full strength in 16-oz. bottles.

What are its properties? Sulphur, iron, sodium, magnesium, aluminum, and others, and with them some unknown force of nature. As blended within the earth these properties have a vastly different effect than when combined by science.

Any alcohol in it? Not a drop. No, there are any habit-forming drugs of any kind.

What is a dose? One teaspoonful in a half glass of water, either hot or cold.

What is it good for? Many derangements of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood. It is Nature's greatest tonic.

Vitalitas is pleasant to take and is constantly bringing about cures where all other remedies have failed.

The letter was circulated here today and found many signers. It was sent along the border, it was stated, for further signatures.

A MEDICINE OF MERIT

A proprietary medicine, like everything else that comes before the public, has to prove its merits. The law of the survival of the fittest applies in this field as in other fields. The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is because it has been fulfilling a real human need for forty years, so that today thousands of American women owe their health and happiness to the marvelous power of this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs—nature's remedy for woman's ills.

BULGARIA MAKES NO MILITARY MOVE YET

RUMANIA SHOWS INCREASING ALARM ON ACCOUNT OF ACTIVITIES NEAR BORDER.

GREECE STILL IS NEUTRAL

Athens and Bucharest Maintain Benevolent Attitude Toward Allies Without Actual Movement.

By The Associated Press.
London, Oct. 11—10:28 p.m.—While the armies of the central empires continue to advance into Serbia, nothing has yet been made public to indicate anything in the nature of an actual military move by Bulgaria against Serbia, except a report that an assault is momentarily expected on the railroad connecting Niš and Salonic.

Rumania is showing increasing alarm on account of the threatened military movement by Bulgaria and the central powers in close proximity to her frontiers, but both Athens and Bucharest are exhibiting any readiness to depart from a policy of benevolent neutrality toward the triple entente powers.

The official reports of the fighting along the major fronts are inconclusive meager today, the only significant point in this being the statement from Berlin that Field Marshal von Hindenburg on the Dvinsk front had repulsed Russian attacks, which seemingly would indicate that for the first time since the German drive through Poland began the Triple Entente Germans are making no big offensive at any point along the whole eastern front.

Of the fighting in the west the French official communication in giving the recent German counter attack on Loos says the Germans left between 7000 and 5000 dead before the positions, which they tried in vain to recapture.

The meeting of the British parliament tomorrow promises to be a momentous occasion. The proposed Franco-Russian loan of $500,000,000 obtained in the United States will be discussed and ratified, although there probably will be a few dissenters who have been found to oppose every act of the government since war was declared.

The country will wait with far greater interest, however, for whatever light Sir Edward Grey may throw upon the Balkan developments, and whether he or Premier Asquith will reveal the cabinet's final alternative, which confronts it. That alternative is whether Great Britain and France will throw all the forces they can command into the Balkan peninsula for the protection of Serbia and Greece against Germany.

Sir Edward Grey is the most popular civilian in the country. The weaknesses of the British diplomatic service and new-faced diplomatic staff is largely composed of the old school aristocracy who were unequal to dealing with the shifting and complicated problems and the elusive politicians they encountered in the Balkans. The general disposition is to wait and see. Edward Grey will do as well as possible with the British forces at his disposal.

Nevertheless the diplomatic feature in the Balkans has given great impetus to the movement to throw overboard the diplomatic and railroad staff of the international corps on a more democratic basis, which undoubtedly will be one of the foremost demands of the liberal masses after the war.

The industrial Westminster Gazette seconds the proposal of the Times military experts against submitting to German domination in the initiative, saying:

"If there is to be an expedition, it must be on a sufficient scale, and yet we must not weaken the weak. The enemy in other words must have a clear idea of how to get new men in addition to those on whom it had previously counted."

The attack on the foreign office and Sir Edward Grey, the foreign minister, promises to be a farce if the British government is to be thrown into a panic.

Dear Sir: Your wire received and we replied this morning via Cotton Belt."

We are very sorry that you should have been disappointed as to date of shipment of this Cooler. It will be to you that there has been absolutely no unnecessary delay. If Mr. Hinrichs made you any promises of delivery in two weeks, he failed to state so to us. He did state that this cooler would be shipped as soon as it is at the earliest possible date. This we have done, having made shipment this morning or in other words in just about three days. Your Cooler was not an ordinary everyday class, but was one of the better class, which takes more time to construct. We figure on a cooler of this kind that in good weather it would probably be finished within three weeks. This is just about the time it took us to finish this job. You must not overlook the fact that your cooler is made for the cold white enamel. Now, if you know anything about paints you know that you can't put more than one coat on about every two days provided the paint goes on well and dries quickly. With five coats you can readily see that ten days' time is necessary to do a good job.

We have rushed this job as much as possible and if you have been inconvenienced in any way we are indeed very sorry.

Yours truly,

Judge J. K. Parr of Hillsboro Loses Hand in Accident

Special to the Morning News.

Hillsboro, Oct. 11.—While trying to walk around southbound Interurban train No. 237, Judge J. K. Parr, prominent capitalist and churchman, fell and his left hand was so mangled as to necessitate amputation when he was taken to a drug store. The accident happened at 7 o'clock tonight. The car had stopped for the Cotton Belt crossing and the judge, who lives near that point, got off to walk to his home, which is on the opposite side of the car.

Thought his hand was hanging in a shred and his head bleeding and right arm painfully bruised, he deliberately walked to a nearby atm and coolly told them that he had hurt his hand and wanted to go to a drug store. Though supported to a drug store, he calmly asked for his physicians, saying his hand was bruised, and while waiting upstairs for their arrival he thought of his wife and walked down to the telephone and told her he had hurt his hand and was at the drug store, but would be home in a few minutes.

Judge Parr is one of the most highly respected members of the Hills county bar, a director in the Southern Tractation Company and a trustee in the Southern Methodist University. Conductor Cook and Motorman Vantre of the interurban came on to Hillsboro and left without ever knowing they had hit a man. The news was received at the station after the arrival of the victim at the drug store and the night clerk notified the dispatcher.

Judge Parr, after going home, decided to go to Waco to the Providence sanitarium and left on a special car at 8 o'clock.

MRS. JAMES H. BARNARD MISS MAY JONES

Comparatively a recent comer, Miss May Jones found pleasurable introduction to twenty friends, maid and matron, of Mrs. James Barnard on Thursday afternoon. In this, Mrs. Barnard entertained at bridge honoring Miss Jones. Pretty appointments and hospitable with the adjunct of refreshments flowers and tempting luncheon plate made the game conductoin in picture feature.

Mr. Barnard honored Miss Jones again, and presented for high score a favor to Mrs. Harold Shear, and another for consolation cut to Miss Clarabel Knight. Mrs. T. N. McMillen and Miss Mary Lou Bagby were callers. The sister in the home, Mrs. Fred Holden, was second hostess. Mrs. Barnard extended her pleasure from honor to the following callers. The Misses Ned Astor, Ruby Rogers, Barbara Rogers, Eert Rowe, Clarabel Knight, Marian Renick, Margaret Sheep, Sallie Keith, Rowena Barnard, Harold Shear, Luke Moore, Jr., William Edmond, Francis Potter, J. L. Burgess.

Furniture dealers must admit that the hammock is doomed to obscurity. Society must admit that all this love in hammock is a thing of the past. Summer homes must admit that the girl in a hammock reading a book is obsolete. All this is because of the peach swamp.

It now becomes necessary to state when a hostess is entertaining within her own home, so popular has the downtown club and club room become.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobson, Miss Mary Hobson, and Dan Hobson of California were down from Dallas as Sunday visitors to the Alan Sanford household, West Austin. Miss Hobson returns as duchess of Dallas for the Curtis-Wilson wedding.

Admires the Baby.

Everybody admires a vigorous baby, and every hopeful mother expects a healthy infant.

Experienced mothers everywhere have told of the wonderful help found in Mother's Friend, a sure, safe and dependable external remedy that reduces and overcomes pain and distress and which is supplied by any druggist.

This remarkable treatment makes the muscles, cords and ligaments flexible—expansion comes without strain—the nerves are relieved of tension and thorough comfort is enjoyed.

is a much more important matter than the average mother considers. It is not the matter of letting the public know of the birth. It is a matter of statistics, legality of the child, and much more.

Did you, lovers of fine dogs, note that Russell Greene, who died in Chicago, bequeathed $5,000 for the care of his dog, Nellie? We here do not even provide meat and drink regularly for our pets, much less a warm winter bed, and care during our absence from home.

Miss Margaret Griffith, duchess from Lexington, who is guest of her sister, Mrs. Harry Baime, in advance of the Cotton Palace queen's coronation by Miss Anna Fry Jones maid, Clarence Hubby, knight, and Wilson Wood, esquire.

After residence in this city for a few seasons, Mrs. H. C. Harder has returned to former residence in Mart. Already Mrs. Harder has been elected to the Monday book club of Mart.

For the "middles" from the battlefield of Texas and the country, and the economic service which Waco made possible, come to visit us during the Cotton Palace, the girls need no longer deplore scarcity of beau. When the "middles" arrive, something is doing every moment.

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Harden have paid their first home visit since their marriage and going to Hillboro. Mrs. Harden speaks of the terror during the New Orleans storm while she was on her wedding trip. She reports conditions for a time as worse than we ever imagined, gave an experience awe-inspiring to rare the least of it.

Do not sit back and wait to be requested to do your part toward Cotton Palace success. The exposition is yours as much as the other Waco woman's and you should lend the helping hand towards a community enterprise. It is all right to wait for invitation to your friend's private party, but not for the city's undertaking.

If you noted that the accepted form "I'm sorry" has been superseded in society by the word "honoring?" We like it. For, often, in the past we have been invited to meet some one we had known all our lives; yet, the word to honor would have been altogether appropriate. This does not preclude the "to meet" when the real stranger or bride is literally introduced.

When Jack Frost comes to tell society that pecans are falling, why not say something like "day pickings in the woods?" These were hunting expeditions where the "pickings" was given a coin and instruction to go ahead and take the precaution that the ground be full. The "hunt" proved jolly and the dinner one of those features which nothing can rival. Yet, of late years we have nothing to "peach hunts." Why not some hostess fill her basket, invite her friends, and revive the pleasure?

The pleasing news is heard from Ft. Worth that Miss Rebecca McKeithen much honored as a mid-October bride.

Miss Vivien Mayfield did not return home with her mother, Mrs. John D. Mayfield. She is remaining in Colorado for another few weeks.

Houston Lumber Man Drowns Himself in Gulf Off Mobile

By The Associated Press.

Houston, Oct. 11.—Chas. M. Heard, well known Houston lumber man, leaped to his death in the Gulf of Mexico, from the deck of a Mallory line steamer off Mobile Sunday morning, according to advices to his brother here. He left a note in his stateroom indicating that despondency over the death of his wife led to the act. He was enroute from Key West to Houston.

Quarantine Against Illinois.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 11.—Acting upon the recommendation of the livestock sanitary commission, Governor James E. Ferguson has issued a proclamation placing a quarantine against the importation of cattle, sheep, other mammals and game from the state of Illinois to Texas, on account of the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease in that state. Horses, mules and asses may be shipped from Illinois into Texas, provided the feet, lower part of legs, manes and tails of animals are thoroughly washed with three per cent solution of carbolic acid or two per cent solution of cresol compound, U. S. P., under the direct supervision of a state or federal veterinarian before loading aboard the cars. Cars must also be disinfected. This quarantine becomes effective October 30.

TAKE CARE OF THE VEHICLES.

Editor Ashmore of the Morgan Mess-
senger says:

"Here's a humble suggestion to our farmer friends and others who have machinery or implements of any kind.
When you have finished with them for the season, why not clean them up carefully, oil them up to prevent rust,
and house them in some way or other
to keep them out of the destructive winter weather? Rains and wind and snow do more harm to them than the work you accomplish with them. It is simply a matter of horse sense and economy."

This is a suggestion that it would be well for our farmer friends everywhere to heed. There is enough waste and deterioration in the careless handling of farm implements and tools on the average every year to pay for at least one new vehicle of average cost, or to build a shed that would protect all of them for several years to come.
Some day the farmers of this section
are going to learn to work less land, work it better, make everything they raise count for something and stop the awful waste that is draining their pockets these days. And when they do so they will make money.

THE TWO BRAINS.

President McCracken, of Vassar, says girls' brains function about as men do, announces the Ohio State Journal. The differences that do exist are due, he said, "to the generations of artificial economic and social conditions under which women have heretofore lived." All these efforts to prove the identity of man's and woman's intellectual status are in vain. They are different, and the difference is shown in different tastes and habits.

The female intellect has more soul in it. Man's intellect is simply a thought machine, turning out reasons
and conclusions, much like a dice box.
The woman's intellect is more concerned with emotions; man's with facts, but the trouble is these facts are usually only half true. The discussion of a point between two women is on a different plane from that of two men, just the difference there is between intuition and erudition. So the brains don't function the same, as Dr. McCracken says. Here are two women inspecting a piece of tatting
or embroidery—showing how it is done.
Let a man function his brain to that process. He cannot do it. His brain will not fathom the mystery. It is too coarse.

Those 131 points rolled up by the football team of Waco high school last Saturday indicate that the local Hielevens may get a share of the state championship honors, even if there are no receipts to be distributed.

Grover Cleveland was able to attribute his defeat in his second administration to the errors of his democratic teammates. Grover Cleveland Alexander went down to defeat yesterday because he was unable to deliver
as successfully as did Leonard.

It begins to look as if red socks will be the official foot torture for the winter season, and that with the Red Sox at the head of the world percentage column, too.

Now that the attorney general's investigation of gasoline prices in this state has led to a reduction of one cent per gallon in the retail cost of that essential article, it does not appear the probe was as useless as some thought it was going to be.

RECOGNITION OF CARRANZA.

Mexico elicits our sympathy rather than our censure, and after our neighbor has suffered all the tortures that have been inflicted upon her for the past few years it would appear that she deserved a better fortune than that Carranza should guide her destinies for the future, but it seems that the fates have decreed otherwise.

And this much is said with the conviction that Secretary Lansing and the other Pan-American conferees acted with the best lights before them in their decision to recommend to their governments the recognition of the man who, while we may not term
him the coward of Vera Cruz, is certainly not the hero of that or any other city. What else could they have done? Carranza, controlling the territory that he did, was able to block any other scheme for the settlement of Mexican troubles that might have been proposed, and more than that, he was just hard-headed enough to do so, no matter how great an interest of his country might have been served by his concession of the point at issue. Self-aggrandizement apparently precedes patriotism with Carranza as it does with all of the other factional leaders who have been making their country bleed with needless strife for the past two years and more.

Controlling more territory than any other faction, more nearly able to execute orders and guarantee promises than any other rival for the supremacy
in Mexico, Carranza offered decidedly the best hope for recognition as the head of a de facto government. Already a number of the Villa Heute-nauts have gone over to the Carranza side, having seen the hand writing on the wall, and now that recognition for Carranza is a certainty, many of the other factional leaders will doubtless flock to his standard in the double hope of saving their necks and obtaining lasting political preference.

Few heads of de facto governments
ever had larger obstacles to overcome.
While Carranza will have the prestige that comes from recognition by foreign powers and the advantage that an embargo on arms will give him,
he has to face the possible further rebellion of those selfish brigands, Villa and Zapata, the hostility of the powerful and wealthy "científicos," the political hostility of many foreign interests that have investments in Mexico, the predominant Villa sentimen-tation in the northern portion of the republic,
and the problem produced by prostrated business, suspended agricultural activities in numerous states, and the famine in many quarters.

What use Carranza will make of his large powers, and whether he can rise to meet the situation remains to be seen. He is not a brainy man, nor is he a statesman. But there are some learned citizens in Mexico, a few who are entitled to be called statesmen; many, doubtless, who have an unselfish love for and devotion to their country. By calling men of this type into his councils Carranza has an opportunity to meet the expectations of the United States and the other neighbors to Mexico who are interested in the ancient and sacred principles of American law, only upon those things which remind nations of their duties to each other and deeper than that of their duties to mankind and to the strife, anarchy and destitution to which it has been subjected within recent years. Carranza has promised to protect foreigners in their lives and property, assume full responsibility for claims growing out of the revolution, guarantee religious freedom, and insure political amnesty so soon as peace
and order have been restored.

Occasionally an unpromising man is thrown into a position of great political responsibility and makes good. We hope Carranza will surprise us all in this way and if he does then the watchful waiting policy of President Wilson will be fully vindicated.

If we were called upon to referee
that fight between Brother Robinson
of the Times-Herald and Brother Mc-Collum of the Tribune as to the merits of their contentions on the price of cotton last year and this, we would probably say that Brother Robinson has constructed a man of straw and Brother McCollum a man of cotton.

One mooted question we expect to see settled by the outcome of the world's series of baseball is the relative food values of Boston Baked Beans
and Quaker Oats.

Chicago went without a drink Sunday for the first time in 44 years. We wish to thank Mayor Thompson for enforcing the Sunday closing law, for we will thus enable the Chicagoans to see awhile that having done without booze one day in the week they can do without seven days and be better off in so doing.

It has been suggested that if Carranza, following his recognition, can not bring about peace in Mexico that William Jennings Bryan be induced to make a Chautauqua tour of the republic.

PRESIDENT WILSON WANTS AMERICANS TO BE MORE NEUTRAL

fection has been so generously easy.
For the principles of liberty are united with the principles of justice in individuals as well as every nation wishes to realize the best thing that is in him, the best thing that can be conceived out of the materials of which his spirit is constructed. It has happened in a way that I think fascin-ates the imagination that we have not only been augmented by additions from outside, but that we have been greatly stimulated by those additions.

Privilege of Liberty Is Rare.

In the easy prosperity of a free people, knowing that the sun had always been free to shine upon us and prosper our undertakings we did not realize how hard the task of liberty is and how rare the privilege of liberty is and men were drawn out of every race
of every climate and out of every race
of every nation for the sake of liberty.
There is no greater attraction of men to the things that they desire and
men of all sorts and conditions struggle towards that light and come to our shores with a desire to realize
what they have heard of the great
privilege of liberty.

They thought of America as lifting
that great statue in the harbor of New York, a torch to light the pathway of
men to the things that they desire and
men of all sorts and conditions struggle towards that light and come to
our shores with a desire to realize
what they have heard of the great
privilege of liberty.

They thought of America as lifting
that great statue in the harbor of New York, a torch to light the pathway of
men to the things that they desire and
men of all sorts and conditions struggle towards that light and come to
our shores with a desire to realize
what they have heard of the great
privilege of liberty.

For my part I believe that the constant renewal of this people out of foreign stocks has been a constant source of reminder to this people of what the inducement was that was offered to men who would be of our number. Now we have come to a time of special stress and test. There was never a time when we needed
more clearly to consider the principles of our own patriotism than this present time. The rest of the world from which our politics were drawn seems for the time in the crucible and no man can predict what will come out of that crucible. We stand apart unembroidered, conscious of our own principles, conscious of what we hope and purpose so far as our powers permit for the world at large and it is necessary that we should consolidate the American principle.
Political action, social action,
should have for its object in America at this time to challenge the spirit of America to ask that every man and woman who thinks first of America should rally to the standards of our life. There have been some among us who have not thought first of America; who have thought to use the might of America in some matter not of America's originative and have forgotten that the first duty
of a nation is to express its principles
in the action of the family of nations and not to seek to aid and abet any rival or contrary ideal.

Not Merely Neutrality.

"Neutrality" is a negative word. It is a word that does not express what America ought to feel. America has a heart and that heart throbs with all sorts of intense sympathies but America has schooled its heart to love
the things that America believes in and it ought to devote itself only to the things that America believes in and believing that America stands apart in its ideals, it ought not to allow its self to be drawn so far as its own concerned, into anybody's quarrel.
Not because it doesn't understand the quarrel; not because it does not understand the merits of the controversy, but because it has a rich and glorious tradition of its own.

The rest of the world, however, is more concerned with the matter of power than with the matter of principle. The rest of the world, however, is more concerned with the matter of power than with the matter of principle.

COLUMBUS DAY WILL BE OBSERVED TODAY

Just 523 years ago today Christopher Columbus established his position in the Hall of Fame by discovering America. Although a native of Genoa, Italy, Columbus did his discovering stunt under the direction of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella of Spain, the latter being his chief sponsor.

Columbus Day, for so October 12, has become known, is observed generally over the United States and by the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic order named after him. The Knights of Columbus had planned to hold an entertainment this year in Waco, but will give their program tomorrow night, as the Arbeiter Ring will give a Columbus Day dance at the Knights of Columbus hall tonight for the benefit of the German war sufferers.

The principal observance in Waco will be by the Christoforo Colombo society, an Italian organization, at Eagles' hall tonight. Musical numbers will be rendered by several young ladies and Alessandro's orchestra will play for the dance which will follow.

Except those that are walking back the summer vacationists are again doing business at the old stands.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegram.

Powers-Kelly Drug Co. Guarantees That Hyomeil Will Relieve the Worst Cases of Catarrh in Waco.

Moran Has Hard Choice.

Manager Moran of the Phillips faces a harder task. His "fine strong man" defeated he must choose between Chalmers, Rixey and Mayer. The latter pitched wonderfully last Saturday, but has not had much rest. Chalmers is an unknown quantity, but the chances tonight were that he would be the one to face the Sox tomorrow.

Considered from all angles, today's contest was the best of the series to date. While the rival pitchers played a prominent part in the battle, they did not shine to the exclusion of their team-mates. First, off fielding and hard, timely bunting were contributing factors. The Red Sox, however, won more than the game, for in dethroning Alexander they feel that they removed the greatest obstacle in their path to the world's championship.

Alexander was at his best in the third contest, but was held more than even by Leonard. They are many to-night who predict that Alexander will not be sent to the mound again in the present series, as he apparently has lost his terror so far as the American league representatives are concerned.

Carrigan's men were confident after the defeat of last Friday that they would be able to beat Alexander on his next time out. They proved their contention today in the final inning

RED SOX GET TO ALEXANDER; TAKE EDGE ON WORLD SERIES

today, as it was George Foster on Saturday.

Tris Speaker made two hits today, one of which was a three-bagger which brought the Sox from behind and put them on even terms with the Phillies. Speaker gave every evidence of coming into his own today and it was not to be wondered that Alexander took no chances with him in the ninth inning, rather than bought a sudden end to another game that threatened to go to extra innings. Besides Lewis and Speaker, Harry Hooper was the only other member of the Red Soxed clan who connected safely with the jumping curves and sweeping slants fired by the wonder flinger of the Phillips. But Hooper's hit came in the ninth when it was most needed.

"Old Dutch" Leonard of Fresno, California, port-sider, brain of heart, steady nerve and determined of spirit. Was the third of the great staff of Red Sox pitchers to take his turn against the invaders of the Boston town today. Leonard had nothing but speed, a fine change of pace, a curve that seemed to bump first one way and then another and had the same effect upon the Philly batsmen and a control that gave no man an easy speaking acquaintance with the initial bag.

Twice "Dutch" was in a predicament suggestive of his Teutonic title, the two solid swats coming off him in the same inning, but he wiggled away from the doom that seemed impending and was crowned tonight with the laurels of victory. With one out, one run over and runners perched on third and second in the third inning, it was no place for a nervous pitcher when Paskert came to the plate, with "Home Run" Cravath swinging two bats in impatience to be the next man up.

Leonard Gets Out of Hole.

But "Dutch" was not to be scored on again. The Boston infield was drawn close within the diamond, the situation was tense. A base hit would mean a walk for Alexander to work under and there was not a fan for the forty thousand who did not believe such a margin meant sure victory for the visitors. There was a wide gap of safe territory between the men of the inner defense and the three fielders on outpost duty when Paskert raised a Texas League that seemed labelled for a safe descent in the very midst of the unguarded, undefended pasture. Hooper, Rixey and Speaker were contented with the crowd of the bat, but the home fans screamed as they realized that both were too far away. Then they saw that "Old Jack" Barry, hero of a score of world's series contests, had turned his back to the ball and was desperately running with it. It was just a fighting chance but the fans prayed for it and the Philadelphia base runners respected it.

Still on a dead run Barry gave a conclusive leap under the ball and a moment later leaped up and thrown it like a flash to the plate to head off any attempt of Alexander to score one after the catch.

Barry made the play as if it were a customary thing. But the stands and bleachers knew what it meant and they sent up a shout of relief and a record-breaking throng.

The danger was not yet past, however, for Cravath and his war club was reckoned with and "Gavy" strove mightily to win. He smashed out a line drive to left center that Duffey Lewis almost to the fence to handle it. On the home ground of the Philadelphia, Cravath's blow would have been an easy home run to the bleachers. Today it was valueless. So much for those well known breaks.

Failure in this third inning to place themselves in a winning position seemed to take the life out of the visitors and they were never dangerous again. Leonard became even better as the game progressed. Neither Cravath nor Luderus, the heavy Philly artillery, could connect for a safe blow. In fact, Luderus, second batsman of the National league, was about the easiest person "Dutch" had to deal with. Three times "Andy" fanned one.

The Sox had all the advantage that goes with the home crowd and there were more than double the loyal supporters on hand to cheer them than the 10,000 spectators crowded into the yard on Broad street. But the playing field itself was stranger to the Sox than to the Phillips, this home of the Braves having been selected in place of the American league park because of its superior accommodations.

Captain Luderus, who was a complete failure at the bat today, struck out six pitched balls when he came up in the second inning for Philadelphia.

Cravath was unable to fathom Leonard's twirling and struck out on the fifth pitched ball, much to the delight of the Red Sox roters. It was a ticklish situation that Boston crawled out of and Leonard was given a generous hand.

Hooper, first up for the American Leaguers, had one strike and two balls on him when he sent a hard fly to Cravath. Scott was sent out on five pitches and drove a long foul fly to center field where Paskert, wearing smoked glasses, made an easy catch.

For Boston Hoblitzel was an easy out, rolling the ball into the fence in the memory of the fortunate thousands who witnessed Braves Field.

A mighty cheer greeted the Boston players when they appeared on the field a little after 1 o'clock and began their batting practice. Manager Carrigan sent one of his numerous left-handers, Gardner, to the bullpen hill to give his club some practice at batting the offerings of a pitcher in the event that Manager Moran of the Philadelphia team should unexpectedly call his erratic left-hand flinger, Eppa Rixey, to the pitching slab. Hardly had the Philadelphia club come upon the field when Manager Moran began to warm up Rixey to see how his curves were breaking.

"If Rixey can get that quick curve breaking right," said Manager Moran, "he'll have the Red Sox throwing out their bats. Anyhow, it looks like Alexander is my pitching selection today."

Manager Moran was confident that his club would have to face "Dutch" when he came to the plate.

Phillies Put Across Run.

Philadelphia's solitary run was made in the third inning after considerable effort. Eddie Burns lashed a single over Barry's head, his first hit in the eighth.

Alexander was instructed to lay down a bunt and finally bumped one toward Gardner. The third baseman made a high throw to Hoblitzel and Alexander and Burns were both safe.

The former was credited with a sacrifice. Stock also sacrificed, Gardner to Barry and both runners advanced a base. Then Bancroft singled to center and Burns raced home with the Phillips' lone run.

Barry rounded the crowd when he ran into right field and with his back partly turned to the diamond made a great catch of Paskert's sizzling fly.

All the fielders backed toward the fence when Cravath stepped to the plate.

It was well that Lewis took a few extra steps out for the slugger. Pashoff shot a smashing drive that the Boston left fielder took almost off the fence in the Phillips' dugout.

Barry, first up for the Red Sox in the eighth, drew a base on balls.

Leonard who had been pitching in world's series form was roundly applauded when he came to bat, his first time up.

He gave Whitted a chance to get a long foul, which the latter, after a long run, could not hold. Then he struck out.

Hooper raised a fly to the infield. It went high enough to be carried along by the wind. Bancroft set himself to make the catch but Stock came running across and caught the descending horsehair just about as it was to settle in "Banny's" hands.

"Banny" did not like Stock's invasion of his territory for when he drew off his glove to go to the bench he slapped it to the ground and made an apparently sharp remark to Stock.

With the beginning of the fourth inning and to the end of the game only hair is a pleasure.

TODAY'S BEAUTY SUGGESTIONS

Face powder simply covers up and leaves no lasting benefits. Those who have tried a simple spurnax face lotion find it much better, as it removes skin discolorations, such as freckles and tan and makes the skin smooth, white and velvety. This lotion is made by dissolving four ounces of talcum in one-half pint hot water, then adding two teaspoonsful glycerine. This complexion beautifier does not rub off or smear. It has a soft, velvety, rapidly giving the skin a permanent healthy youthful appearance.

An especially fine shampoo for this weather can be had at trifling expense by dissolving a teaspoonful of the head and throat and respiratory organs. Wherever these mucous membranes contain catarrhal germs, there Hyomeil will do the work. Here again they feel that they removed the greatest obstacle in their path to the world's championship.

Alexander was at his best in the third contest, but was held more than even by Leonard. They are many to-night who predict that Alexander will not be sent to the mound again in the present series, as he apparently has lost his terror so far as the American league representatives are concerned.

Leonard, the star southpaw of the Red Sox. Accordingly he motioned Rixey to go out and give the club some bats. Rixey, however, switched his position at the plate and started right-handed and this brought up only one left-handed batsman—Luderus.

The crowd began to arrive in large numbers near 1:30 o'clock. By that time all the cheaper seats were filled, with scores eager to gain admission.

Lightning fast plays were made during the practice of the two infields.

The inner fielders had been running around and dry and grounders came to the fielders with snap and precision.

The sun bothered the center and right fielders and Speaker and Hooper wore sun glasses. Dutch Leonard warmed up for Boston, while Alexander tried out his curves for Philadelphia.

Shot Through Breast Proves Fatal for Fate Warner, Negro

A charge of murder was filed against Calvin Parker, negro, yesterday following the death at 1 o'clock p.m. of Fate Warner, his brother-in-law, who was shot through the breast in a difficulty near Oak Lake Saturday night. Parker also has a bullet wound in the left breast, where a rib was broken by the missile, and is himself in a serious condition in the county jail here. Both negroes are from near Moulton, Texas, and had been picking cotton on the Polk farm, nine miles out on the Springfield road.

Parker was arrested early Sunday morning by Chief McNamara, Assistant Chief James and Officer George Jackson, who found him at a farm owned by George Davis, another negro, about three miles from where the shooting occurred early Saturday night.

County Physician R. McCormick, who examined Warner following the shooting Saturday, expressed the opinion that the bullet had only gone through the left shoulder, and did not think the wound would prove serious. Yesterday, however, it was discovered that the bullet had penetrated the lung, and that internal hemorrhages had set in during Saturday night. He died yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. One bullet took effect in the lung, the other in the left breast near the neck. Parker was brought to the city jail in the automobile which took the city officers to the Davis farm, and was later transferred to the county jail. When Chief McNamara, Assistant Chief James and Constable Leslie Stegall went out to the Polk farm Saturday night to investigate the shooting, Parker could not be found. It was learned that he spent the night in the house belonging to Davis. The fugitive negro entered the house Saturday night when the family of the owner was away from home. When the family returned they were afraid to occupy the house with the negro, who they were told had killed his brother-in-law, and spent the night in a barn.

Stomach sufferers and dyspeptics who follow this plan and avoid the use of pepsin, charcoal, soda, mints, drugs and medicines are invariably advised to find a diet which relieved of the irritating acid and gas, soon regains its normal tone and can do its work alone without the doubtful aid of artificial digestants.

LESS COTTON GINNED THAN LAST SEASON

FEDERAL REPORT INDICATES MCLENNAN COUNTY CROP IS UNDER THAT OF 1914.

MARKET IS STRONG AGAIN

Twelve Cents Being Received for Staple and Seed Bringing Record Price of $30 a Ton.

Less cotton, by 306 bales, had been ginned in McLennan county up to September 25 this year, than had been ginned at the same time last year, according to the report of Horace H. Flynn, federal county statistician, made yesterday. Prices for cotton again reached 12 cents in Waco yesterday, more than cotton seed has gone up to $30 a ton.

Mr. Flynn's report, based on figures received from the United States department of agriculture, shows 31,174 bales ginned in the county to September 25, as compared with 31,480 at the same time last year. It is generally agreed that the production this year will be considerably under that of 1914, especially so in McLennan county.

Cotton receipts in Waco yesterday were 161 bales, according to Sem Nix, public weigher. Prices ranged from 11½ to 12 cents, with basis middling quoted at the former price. More cotton has been bringing around $28 a ton for the greater part of the season, but during the last few days the price has advanced to the highest stage in the history of the local mills. With the price for both cotton and seed doubled this year over last, it is estimated by cotton experts that McLennan county farmers will receive at least fifty per cent more for the short crop this year than for the full crop last year.

Waco cotton mills are offering $28 a ton for cotton seed, with an unlimited market for all seed brought in by the farmers of this territory. Miss Besse Dainty Coming to Orpheum Monday, October 18

Miss Besse Dainty and players will open at the Orpheum theatre Monday, October 18, in "Within the Law." This will be followed by "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," and other plays of like popularity will be given later. One big production will be staged each week.

In addition to Miss Dainty, the following members of her company appeared here yesterday: Miss Zulu Scott, Lawrence Arnsman, Iris Earle and Harry B. Castle. The remainder of the cast is composed of actors and actresses new to Waco, whom the management believes will prove popular before the season is very far advanced.

Three matinees will be given each week. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. Miss Dainty established a firm place in the hearts of Waco theatregoers during the twenty-six weeks she appeared here last season at the Majestic and the Cozy, now the Orpheum, theatres. With her company, she will be given a cordial welcome.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York, Oct. 11.—Today's cotton market was very active at times, with a resumption of support on a large scale, and a strong advance in prices which carried January contracts up to 12.84 against the closing figures of 12.53 on Saturday. Scattered realizations last hour brought about a little reaction and final prices were 22 to 30 points net lower.

The market opened steady at 8 points decline to 1 point advance, reflecting easing and an absence of front on the east coast, with the market except along the eastern edge of the belt. It was soon apparent, however, that large interests were accumulating position, and purchases, which had been quite liberal, soon appeared, leaving the market almost bare of cotton and in a position to advance rapidly on any good buying movement. The general trend was to be that big buyers had sat out for the day, when December sold at 12.54, January at 12.44c, March at 12.69c, and May at 12.85.

The strength of the spot situation in the market and a feeling that recent freights had practically stopped all further growth in northern sections of the belt materially helped the bold position of 12.84c for January, after realizing apparently a continued reaction of about 10 points in the last half hour. The prospect for clear and warmer weather in the eastern belt was more than offset by predictions for increased cloudiness and colder conditions in the southwest.

New Orleans. New Orleans, Oct. 11.—Cotton opened at the decline today, but soon gained strength and rose nearly 12 points to the lowest on report since frost damage in the market in the session scalping longs were liberal profit takers, and under this selling the market lost part of the net gain, closing 21 to 22 points over Saturday's figure.

The market opening was due to a disappointing Liverpool. At a level 5 to 7 points down, fresh long buying came and the market commenced to move with a pronounced strength. The official weather forecasted temperatures as low as 30 degrees at some points in the cotton region over the weekend, and the bulls claimed much damage had been done to cotton in the market.

To most active months rose 35 to 40 points from the lowest levels, where they stood 21 to 33 points over Saturday's close.

Market gossip was that much short cotton was based on the rise, many cotton brokers having put out lines on the theory that a sustained reaction downward was imminent.

COTTON SEED OIL.

New York, Oct. 11.—Cotton seed oil reached new high levels today on persistent buyers of late months, inspired by the scarcity of seed, advancing crude prices and strength in other commodity markets. Final quotes showed net advances of 12 to 22 points. Sales 42,400 barrels. Tenders on contracts were 500 barrels.

WHEAT

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Progress of the Teutonic advance toward the Dardanelles as it had a distinct effect here today as an influence tends to raise the price of wheat. After a fairly continuous upturn, the market closed nervous to 30 1/2c net higher, with December $1.04 1/2c, Jan. 1.05, and May at $1.06 1/2c. Other leading staples, too, all showed gains—corn 6 1/2 to 1 1/2c, oats 2 1/2 to 3c and provisions to 10c.

Announcement that delivery of ten million bushels of wheat purchased by France in Rumania and Bulgaria had been cut off by the cleared situation in the Balkans attracted eager attention from dealers here. The inference was drawn that the bulk of the total mentioned would have to be replaced by shipments ordered from this side of the Atlantic.

Increasing complaints of crop damages made corn values firm. Oats reflected the action of other grain.

Nearly all dry goods divisions rose to the higher prices so far this season, a lively advance in the hog market gave impetus to buying.

Hirschberg Talks of Department Stores

VICE PRESIDENT OF GOLSTEIN-MIGEL CO. GIVES ADDRESS AT ROTARY CLUB.

International President Will Be Here for State Conference on November 1.

Presumptions on the part of some people to the effect that the department store has become top-heavy and will disintegrate into specialty shops, are entirely unfounded, declared Sol Hirschberg of the Goldstein-Migel company in an address before the Rotary club yesterday at noon. The modern department store is a combination of specialty shops, being operated with the greatest of economy and efficiency, and representing the highest sense in business and the highest integrity in selling.

The department store stands for service, convenience, and it has come to take care of its employees that it presents the aspect of a family more than that of a business institution. Yet business methods are simple everywhere. Indeed, Mr. Hirschberg declared that any business or professional man would find it quite worth while to go through an up-to-date department store and see the business methods, economies and plain efficiency generally that are employed there.

Mr. Hirschberg humorously declared that the department store had its inception in Noah's Ark, though it was not carried out fully there because of the enforced economy in space. And while the department store is a distinctly western institution now and has found its greatest development in the United States, the oldest store of that kind was founded in Tokio, Japan, in 1873, by the Mitzu family, and is still being operated by that family today. And the store is one of the best in the world. The cross-roads store of modern times embodied something of the department store in its efforts to carry everything that man, woman and child wants and needs in his home.

His address was well received.

Sec. H. M. Cox read a letter from W. H. Richardson, governor of the Texas district of Rotary Clubs, the headquarters of which is located in Waco, Texas, in which he advised that Waco had been selected as the meeting place for the conference with International President Allen D. Albert of Minneapolis on November 1.

Invited to attend all of the clubs in this district will assemble here for that conference, which will be held here Monday, November 1.

Several new members were elected yesterday and among the visitors present, those who spoke, and who were, due to the lack of time, introduced only with the announcement of their names, were Rev. Hugh McLeellan, Dallas engineer, who is conducting a revival meeting with the Central Christian church; Rev. J. H. Pace, Dublin, who is conducting a protracted meeting at the Provident Heights Baptist church; Dr. Earle President of the Waco Telephone Co.; Frank Dallenbach, estate lawyer; Sam Quay, superintendent of the city waterworks system; Dr. C. P. Schenck, newly-elected member, and W. A. Redd, Jr., business agent, representing the Garfield Packing Co., and James Imhoff, of Tehuacana.

J. J. Powers will be the speaker at next Monday's luncheon and L. L. Fullingim will be toastmaster.

Central Christian Revival.

"Kicking Against the Goads" was the subject taken for his sermon last night by Rev. Hugh McLeellan at the Central Christian church. He drew his lesson from the conversion of Paul on the road to Damascus and said that it should be easy for all to accept Christ.

SEWAGE PLANT PLAN WILL BE GONE OVER

AMICABLE ADJUSTMENT OF CONTROVERSY BETWEEN MAYOR AND ROTARY CLUB.

SANITARY ENGINEER IS HERE

State Officials Do Not Think Necessary Work Can Be Done for $75,000.

Following addresses before the Rotary club yesterday at noon by Dr. W. B. Collins, state health officer, V. H. Ehlers, state engineer, Mayor J. W. Riggins and Senator A. B. McCollum, on the proposed sewage disposal plant for the city of Waco, Mayor Riggins and Mr. Ehlers engaged into a conference yesterday afternoon that resulted in the reaching of an agreement by which the controversy that has arisen between a committee of the Rotary club and Mayor Riggins as to the adequacy of the proposed plans for a sewage disposal plant will be amicably adjusted.

Mr. Ehlers, state sanitary engineer, and whose duty it will be to approve or reject the plans proposed for the sewage disposal plant, here has decided to come over to Waco today.

Mr. Elrod, the engineer of Dallas whom Mayor Riggins has employed on the sewage disposal plant to be erected here, will come down to Waco this morning, and together they will formulate designs for the disposal plant, subject to the approval of N. Werenksild of Dallas, the engineer who constructed the new filtration plant in this city, and everywhere regarded as an engineer of authority. Dr. Collins, state health officer, and Mayor Riggins, also on behalf of the city, agreed to adopt plans that will be approved by Mr. Werenksild.

Some time ago Mr. Elrod, Dallas engineer, submitted a plant to Mr. Ehlers and the state board of health, which is now being tried out in Milwaukee, and which is being experimented with in Houston on a small scale. This provides for the introduction of compressed air into the sewage, the surplus oxygen burning up much of the solid matter in the sewage. This system has not been tried out sufficiently to determine its merits, he said. He said, however, that Waco should build a sewage disposal plant in the near future, even if there is no case in the city's filtration plant, when the river is low, and the demand would be so great upon that plant that it could not possibly purify the water properly. Mr. Ehlers complimented Mayor Riggins on the effort he had put forth to secure an adequate disposal plant at the smallest possible cost.

Senator McCollum explained that the part he had taken in the matter of investigating the cost of an adequate sewage disposal plant was taken purely as a citizen interested in the welfare of the city and not as one lacking confidence in the ability or integrity of the city commission. He had honest doubts that an adequate plant could be erected for $100,000 and was honestly trying to find out if it could be done, he said.

Major Riggins declared that he had no political or personal axe to grind in trying to secure the plan as far as possible. He said he did not appreciate the manner in which the Rotarians had gone about its investigation of the subject, believing that the club should have sent its committee to him to secure the information he had collected in a wide correspondence on the subject. He then explained the various methods of sewage disposal followed elsewhere and declared his conviction was that the Imhoff system is the best. The reason some other cities have expended so much for their systems is that they have built beyond their needs, the mayor explained.

In his address before the Rotary club, Dr. Collins, state health officer, said his department was seeking to see to it that sanitary laws and rules are established and enforced in this state to the end that all the people might be provided with wholesome food, pure water and sanitary homes. It is the duty of the state board of health, he said, to see to it that the state anti-stream pollution bill is enforced when it becomes operative, and to enforce this law it is necessary to have the assistance of a state sanitary engineer. It must be seen that the sewage is properly treated before being dumped into the river and it is the duty of the sanitary engineer to pass over the various sewage disposal systems to determine whether the sewage has been properly treated.

It is not the duty of the engineer to make designs or draw plans for a sewage disposal system, but only to approve or disapprove such plans may be submitted by the various cities.

The object of his visit to Waco was to help the citizens and officials here arrive at a decision upon the most efficient and economical plans possible. Dr. Collins said after telling of his appointment of the beauty of Waco, he assured the Rotarians that his board and its employees were anxious to be of all the service to Waco, they could.

Imhoff Tank Not Enough.

Mr. Ehlers, introduced by Toastmaster Ehlers as a graduate of A. & M. college and later of the Cornell engineering schools, explained that it was not his purpose to draw plans or make estimates upon them, but to see to it that the various cities adopted plans which were most efficient and most economical in the long run. He said the type of plant best suited to any city depended largely upon local conditions, as does the cost. That plant is usually most desirable which can be constructed of material that is available close at hand.

Discussing the various methods of treating the sewage, he said of the Imhoff system, which has been proposed for Waco, that the septicized Imhoff tank was not a purification process, but that its principal function was to prepare the sewage for the filter and leach it so that it would not clog the filter. While it purifies the sewage to a certain extent, the purification does not amount to more than 30 per cent as a rule, making it necessary that an additional treatment be given the sewage to secure even approximate safety.

There has been about $1,000,000 expended in this state in faulty designs for sewage disposal plants, he said, and Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so well. A child simply cannot stop playing around the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated to a tea-spoonful, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Be wary of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

he urged that each city make a careful investigation of the most economical efficient system before settling finally upon any of them. The average cost of a sewage disposal plant usually ranges from $1 to $5 per capita, the cost depending upon the degree of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

New Birmingham System.

Mr. Ehlers told of a system of aeration that was discovered in Birmingham, England, about eighteen months ago, which is now being tried out in Milwaukee, and which is being experimented with in Houston on a small scale. This provides for the introduction of compressed air into the sewage, the surplus oxygen burning up much of the solid matter in the sewage. This system has not been tried out sufficiently to determine its merits, he said. He said, however, that Waco should build a sewage disposal plant in the near future, even if there is no case in the city's filtration plant, when the river is low, and the demand would be so great upon that plant that it could not possibly purify the water properly.

He then explained the various methods of sewage disposal followed elsewhere and declared his conviction was that the Imhoff system is the best. The reason some other cities have expended so much for their systems is that they have built beyond their needs, the mayor explained.
